Understanding Drug Screen Panels !

By Terry Brown, M.D. and Dave Kremer, CEO

In today's world it is difficult to keep up with all the new drugs on the market, let alone the ones that have been around forever. It is a challenge for companies to determine what to test for in pre-employment, post accident and random drug screens in relation to their workforce. While some companies must follow DOT standard drug screens others have the option to choice from a variety of panels. To help you better understand the drug screen panels and the drugs that are being tested for, we have put together a matrix to help identify what is included in each.
